NUMBER 11

Town Council Meeting Held

The Town Council met in regular session Tuesday night with all members of the Council present, also Solicitor Ostlund, and the Constable and Engineer.

Bishop Walker was present and stated that if the Town would purchase the cement the 2nd Ward would furnish the labor as well as the gravel, and lay 90 feet of sidewalk from the corner of the Church house lot east to the other sidewalk just laid. The Council voted to buy the cement and let the work proceed.

J. W. Evans was present and asked the Council to sell his couple of lots in the northeast part of the Town for cow pasture. This matter was turned over to the Works and Property Committee to act on. The application of C. E. Fawns for lease of streets on the south side of the canal was refused because of the protests of property owners. The application of F. R. Taylor and J. V. Heggie to close the alley back of their respective properties was granted as there was no protest, no other parties using the driveway.

A. D. Woolley and Roy Anderson were present representing the Ratepayers Association and stated there was considerable opposition to the Swimming Pool site selected by the Council and Swimming Pool Committee. They suggested that a meeting of the Ratepayers be held to discuss the proposition and agreed to see that such a meeting was advertised. Monday night was selected as the date.

Dr. Leech, M.H.O., was present and thought the citizens of the Town should be inoculated again against Typhoid as it had been five years since this was done. After considerable discussion the Council voted to have this work proceeded with at once. Inoculation of the school for the first round will be carried out next Monday.

Sam Dyson made a proposition to the Town for the purchase of a car to facilitate his work as Town Engineer, and in view of the fact that frequent visits have to be made to the Pump House and the need of constant supervision of the Water Lines and laborers in the the proposition was accepted.

A $25.00 grant was made to help with prizes for the Parade on Dominion Day morning, and the correspondence was read, the payroll passed and ordered paid, and meeting adjourned at 11 p.m.

ROADS TO COST $385,000

Speeding on in repairing for a tourist rush, the Alberta Public Works Department has commenced work on projects which will require an expenditure of about $400,000.

The official announcement of this initial program was made lately by H. P. Keith, Deputy Minister of Public Works, in the absence of Hon. W. A. Fallow, Minister of the department who was in the east.

In launching this program, the department is responding to representations made by the Alberta Motor Association & others as to the need of improved highways in this province.

Grading, gravelling and oiling comprise this preliminary batch of road projects, distributed over various parts of the province.

The projects represent a total of 100 miles, taking in the Calgary-Banff highway for a distance of 31 miles from Morley to the park boundary which will be gravelled and oiled. The cost is estimated at $70,000.

Revision of the Peace River highway for a distance of 12 miles near Lesser Slave Lake, a new route being necessary in view of flood water conditions which had to be contended with last year, will require an outlay of $70,000.

Then there is the new highway to be graded and gravelled from Picture Butte, Lethbridge to Iron Springs, serving the million dollar sugar refinery in the Lethbridge Northern district and estimated to cost $102,000.

Grading and gravelling of the old railway, for a distance of 31 miles from Styal, where work was commenced last fall, to Carrot Creek is put down at $143,000.

Commencing early Saturday morning and continuing off and on until sunset Sunday evening, the district enjoyed one of the most beautiful and timely June rains we have had in a long time. It was not a downpour, but came steadily and without any wind, all of the moisture having a chance to soak in, and the thirsty ground certainly drank it up.

Saturday evening the rain gage showed .43, and at 7 a.m. Sunday it was .74. The rain continued and after it had stopped Monday morning showed 1.56 inches, sufficient to soak down about six inches in the sod.

South of town hoppers had been reported as quite bad in places, and farmers were beginning to poison them in order to stop their destruction. The rain will hold them in check very effectively and will kill thousands of the unhatched eggs, as well as a great many of the small hoppers. It will also reduce the cutworm menace to practically nil, and the crops will be preserved from damage until nearly the end of the month as far as moisture is concerned unless we have a great deal of drying wind, which sometimes springs up.

Beet fields, gardens, hay land and crops will respond rapidly to the rain and will grow by leaps and bounds as the moisture reaches their roots and the sun commences shining.

Everyone on Monday was wearing that broad smile that simply wouldn't come off as they contemplated the benefit of the storm.

Attorney General
Hugill Here

Attorney-General J. W. Hugill, his Deputy Geo. B. Henwood, accompanied by Liquor Commissioner J. R. Dinning were here Saturday afternoon and made a tour of inspection of the Raymond School of Agriculture and grounds. The Government officials were accompanied by Solon E. Low, M.L.A., of Stirling.

Mr. Hugill expressed himself as very well pleased with the conditions of the buildings and grounds, and very much surprised to find them so inviting and beautiful.

While nothing definite was stated as to the purpose of the visit while here, it seems that correction schools for juveniles are needed, and this Department is endeavoring to find suitable locations for one or more such schools. No commitment was made by the officials while here but several times they were heard to say that the local buildings and grounds would suit their purpose very well.

Just what this might mean we are not prepared to say.

After completing their inspection they spent a few minutes with the Mayor and Town Secretary at the Town Hall, and then continued on to Cardston and Waterton Park where they spent the week end.

WILL RELIEF ADMINISTRATION BE CHANGED?

Has the Relief problem been made a racket by so many people that they are to suffer in future for taking advantage of a lenient and indulgent Government? We are not able to answer this question. However, it would appear from the general trend of things that relief was to be greatly curtailed if not entirely abolished by some Government before very long. We are all aware that the General Authorities of the Latter Day Saints Church at the recent General Conference charged the Stake Presidents with the responsibility of getting their people organized to be self-sufficient for the coming winter, where this was out of the question, that each ward and branch arrange to take care of their own poor. Does this mean a withdrawal of Government relief?

For several years Relief has been one of the most expensive Departments of the Government. Works programmes have been inaugurated to try and get value for the money spent. In nearly every case the most expensive public works ever performed have been by those receiving Government relief. It has resulted in a protest from the public, and great losses on part of Governments. Men working on relief projects in most cases are only looking toward the next meal. The completion of the job, and doing it in a business like manner means nothing to them. Of course, it is only to be expected. Despite the length of the depression that we like so much to talk about, there have been few who have not been helped by relief. We frequently hear that the system would make any man lazy. In most instances the man was lazy before, and not until he got on relief was he in a position to show just how really lazy he was. We know this statement will be challenged by a good many.

We notice by many of the United States papers that a change in administration is now planned. Instead of a Department in the Government attempting to look after it, funds will be voted, but the real distribution of the relief will be left to the Town and City Council and other small units. To our way of thinking this is as it should be. The Town Council, through their Committees know better than anyone else who is entitled to relief in their town. It is no use saying that it is impossible in the past to control this matter. A cut in relief meant a protest of the victim to the Province or State with a hard luck story, and reinstatement at par. This is frequently very unfair and unjust.

Tax payers are tiring of feeding the slothful and lazy. They find themselves very busy caring for their own without paying high taxes to care for some too lazy to care for themselves. Then, too, many who come for relief each winter make good money in the summer months, but they squander it away in foolish and unwise practices and practices, and then come to the Relief agencies to care for them. It takes no Solomon to see the inconsistency of this.

From all indications it appears that a change is coming. What it will be none can tell. This much, however, is certain, in view of the way the thing has been abused in the past, the ropes will be tightened up, and if a man gets his keep and a day's wages he will have to put in a day's work and not merely put in time. Independence is the greatest heritage a person can have, and it is to be hoped that with the opportunities the district affords for gardens, orchards, dairy farms, etc., that dependents will make a real effort to stand on their own legs, before individuals, corporations and governments become bankrupt, and there are no sources of relief and succor for those who are still depending on them. The present vicious circle cannot go on, there must be a way somewhere to stop the leak.

A COMMUNITY ASSET

During the "old playtime" season of the year perhaps only a few realize the pleasure that is extracted from the local swimming pool. What clean, healthful recreation, during the summer season especially when it is warm what is more welcome than a dip in the old swimming hole. The outlay in cash in a comfortable safe pool is always a real investment something that the old & young can enjoy through out the season. Citizens who have assisted year after year to keep the local pool in good condition need every encouragement and assistance for their contributions make it possible for the public to enjoy this splendid recreation. This spring trees have been planted on the adjacent property and with the usual care these trees will provide beautiful shade trees in a few years. Some time in your life if you are a good swimmer, you will have the opportunity to demonstrate just what it is worth to be able to successfully take care of yourself in the water. Every child should be given this opportunity to learn to swim, especially when the facilities are here to afford every advancement.

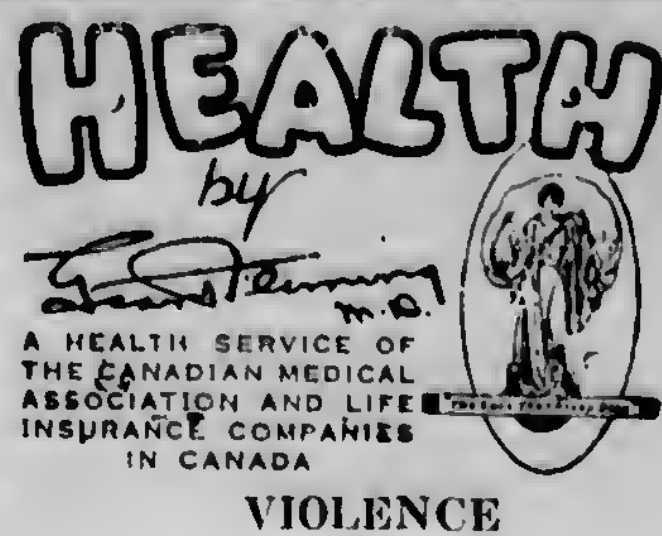

A water sports day will probably be held about the middle of July with many events for the young & older classes with suitable prizes. A swimming instructor will be giving lessons again this year for beginners and all those who desire to brush up on the art—Nanton News.

VIOLENCE

Everyone has a personal interest in the ever-increasing number of deaths from violence particular those due to motor-car accidents. Our interest is first of all an appreciation that we may shortly be numbered among the victims; the second thought has to do with a similar feeling with regards to relatives and friends, and lastly, there is a general desire to preserve and safeguard human life.

Public health authorities are concerned in the preservation of life and in raising the standard of personal health. Originally, they were fully occupied with their endeavours to control of the wide spread epidemic diseases; then later on, they extended their concern to all preventable diseases.

During recent years, a considerable part of the ground gained has been lost due to the deaths from violence. Obviously, nothing is won by saving a child from diphtheria if he is to lose his life in a motor accident.

So serious has the situation become that, in many places, public opinion has really forced health departments to interest themselves in a problem which had been regarded as outside of their jurisdiction.

No one is suggesting that health department should under take responsibility for safety campaigns or for traffic regulations. The question that is asked of health departments is as to what contribution along medical lines the might make in order to help solve this serious problem.

There is no single answer to a problem which arises from many causes. From a medical point of view, consideration might be given to the physical and mental competence of those applying for drivers licence.

It does seem reasonable to suggest that certain degrees of defective vision or hearing, and inability to distinguish red and green lights might be regarded as handicaps which would rule out the right to a license to drive a motor car.

Some defects are readily recognized and so are easily detected, whereas others are revealed only through a careful examination. It might be advisable to consider, as a beginning, the easily detected defects in the case of all drivers, and, in the event of accidents a complete examination before renewal of license.

The only point to this article is the question as to whether or not the public in their own interest and for their own protection, should consider a system of requiring at least some measure of physical fitness in those who are licensed by the state to drive motor cars.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St. Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Some caution should be used by young people in swimming who cannot swim. Last week four deaths occurred from boys getting beyond their depth.

EXPERIMENTAL STATION FERTILIZER

WEEKLY LETTER

POULTRY ITEMS

This week's letter will deal briefly with few points which may profitably be borne in mind by poultrymen at this time.

1. Separate the cockerels and pullets. This should always be done before the birds are placed on summer range. In some cases it may prove desirable to simply destroy the surplus males, but in other instances particularly when one of the heavy broods is being raised it may prove profitable to either fatten these young cockerels as broilers, or hold them separately from the pullet flock and develop them for sale next fall as finished meat birds. A large proportion of the surplus cockerels raised at this Station are fattened as broilers. Our poultryman uses the following finishing ration with good success: 25 pounds hullless or shifted barley chop, 20 pounds hullless or sifted oat chop, 20 pounds of shorts or ground wheat and 5 ed with enough skim milk to make a very thin gruel. The birds weigh about 2 pounds when placed in the fattening pen and are fed all they can clean up in 20 minutes twice a day for about two weeks. Feed should never be left in the troughs for more than half an hour. If sufficient skim milk is used in making the gruel, it is not necessary to supply any water.

2. Cockerels for next years breeding pens. Right now is a good time to begin scouting around for good male birds of known breeding. These can often be purchased at 12 to 14 weeks of age at a very reasonable figure, or, if this cannot be done, orders placed now with any established breeder will guarantee the chance to select the best cockerels when they are offered for sale next fall. By this precaution one can avoid the danger of being left with only culs to choose from just before the breeding season next winter.

3. Culling the laying flock

Any hens which moult between now and the first of Sept. may be regarded as culs and treated as such. The money makers in the flock will continue to lay again in October and November at the same time as the hens that moult in June, July and August.

4. Control of Mites and Lice. Our poultryman is watching closely these days for any appearance of vermin in the poultry regularly until the autumn, when they will go into a quick moult and return to production. If these are detected early before they have become numerous they are not only more easily controlled, but can be destroyed before they have done any serious damage. The treatment used here for the control of mites is spraying the roosts and nests and all dark corners or crevices with low grade coal-oil. Painting the roosts with nicotine sulphate according to the manufacturer's directions has been found to be a very satisfactory treatment for lice.

HOW TO CONTROL CABBAGE MAGGOTS

The cabbage maggot is one of the most serious pests of cabbage and cauliflowers in Canada today. It also attacks radishes, turnips and other plants of the mustard and cress family. The maggot attacks the roots and not only destroys the rootlets but bores into the tap root. Infested plants become stunted and wilt on hot days. Severely attacked plants turn yellow and die. The adults of the maggots are two-winged flies which lay their eggs on the stem of the plants about the time the European plum tree first comes into bloom in the spring.

These insects can be controlled by the use of corrosive sublimate which can be procured at most seed houses. The sublimate when used is diluted in water at the rate of one ounce to 10 gallons of water. As it loses much of its strength when brought into contact with metals, the sublimate should be mixed in and applied with glass, earthenware or wooden vessels. This is very important.

Two or three days after the cabbage and cauliflower plants have been set out in the field or garden the solution should be poured over the stem and around the base of each plant using about half a cupful per plant. Care should be taken to wet the stems thoroughly as well as the soil immediately surrounding the base. Two subsequent applications should be made the second application 7 days after the first, and later making three treatments in all. It is very important to make the first application early, as the success of the control depends very largely on this point.

In the case of radishes the solution should be poured over the young plants about three days after they appear above the ground and a second application made a week later. Take with the sublimate when they are nearly ready for use. It is a dangerous practise in view of the fact that corrosive sublimate is a deadly poison. Great care at all times should be exercised in its use.

A patriot is one who is interested in public good. It doesn't take a war to prove or disprove it.

E. L. Murdock, proprietor of a former leading ladies' ready-to-wear store at Champaign, Ill. closed the doors of the store to avoid bankruptcy. In a statement to the Champaign News-Gazette, he set forth the principal reasons for the store's failure to maintain prestige and prosperity it had enjoyed in times past. He said:

"Perhaps the greatest contributing cause is the fact that four years ago our firm because we thought the rate was too high discontinued all advertising in the News-Gazette. We tried other forms of advertising to supplant the News-Gazette but found none effective. Our business continued on the down grade. Seemingly our friends had forgotten us. The fault was ours."

PHOSPHATE SALT HELPS STOCK

Phosphated salt blocks for use in combatting the serious effects of phosphate deficiency among livestock have recently developed by a Canadian salt firm.

Bone disease and stiff-neckness are caused by a shortage of phosphate in the feed rations of livestock and it has recently been learned that there are large areas in Canada where the natural crops are phosphate deficient. Western Ontario, southern Alberta, southern Saskatchewan, central Manitoba and the Fraser River Valley are all affected. It is claimed that the new phosphated salt blocks will be equally as effective in preventing and relieving these diseases in these areas as iodized salt has been in preventing goitre in the great Columbia.
